Intellectual Property of Carbonable

The systems, software, structures, infrastructures, databases, and content (including but not limited to text, images, graphics, music, logos, trademarks, and databases) used by Carbonable on its website and in connection with its services are protected by intellectual property rights and database rights under applicable laws.

Any dismantling, decompilation, decoding, extraction, reuse, copying, or, more generally, any reproduction, representation, publication, or use of all or part of these materials without Carbonable's prior written consent is strictly prohibited and may lead to legal action.

Confidentiality

Both parties commit to maintaining strict confidentiality regarding all documents and information of a legal, commercial, industrial, technical, or financial nature exchanged in the course of their relationship.

This obligation excludes information or documents that:

1. Were already known to the receiving party before their disclosure;
2. Are or become publicly available without any breach of this Privacy Policy;
3. Were lawfully received from a third party without an obligation of confidentiality;
4. Must be disclosed by law, regulation, or order of a competent authority, or to establish a party's legal rights.

This confidentiality obligation extends to employees, contractors, and any third parties engaged by the parties.

Personal Data

The parties agree to comply with all applicable personal data protection laws, including the French law N° 78-17 dated January 6, 1978 (the "French Data Protection Act") and Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of April 27, 2016 (the "GDPR").

Personal data related to the parties' representatives involved in the execution of the relationship is collected and processed by the other party as a data controller under the GDPR and the French Data Protection Act. This data is retained only for as long as necessary to manage the relationship.

Access to this data may be granted to:

- Employees of the collecting party,
- Audit or control services (e.g., auditors), and
- Subcontractors engaged for relevant tasks.

The processing of this data is essential for the proper execution of the relationship. Individuals whose data is processed may exercise their rights under applicable laws, including:

1. The right to access, correct, or delete their data;
 2. The right to request the restriction or cessation of data processing;
 3. The right to object to data processing for legitimate reasons;
 4. The right to request data portability;
 5. The right to file a complaint with a competent supervisory authority.

Customer References

Neither party shall use the other party's name, trademarks, or any references to its affiliates in any written or oral institutional or commercial communication (e.g., advertising materials, videos, press releases) without prior written consent.

Governing Law and Jurisdiction

This Privacy Policy is governed by French law. Any disputes arising from its interpretation, validity, or enforcement shall be resolved amicably between the parties. If no resolution is reached within two (2) months of the initial notice of dispute, the matter shall be referred to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of Paris (France), subject to any conflicting mandatory legal provisions.
